A new normal?: planning for the future

Currently being delivered Online this stimulating and enjoyable course uses a human rights framework to interrogate the past year and COVID 19. The pandemic has deepened and laid bare existing social inequalities. This course examines how processes, systems, the economy, politics, legislation and ideologies have exposed and further excluded already marginalised communities. Would you like to discuss the politics, sociology, economics and human rights around the 'New Normal'?

Learners: Those looking to engage in lively discussion and debate

Duration: Flexible. Typically 12 – 16 hours

Tailored workplace learning: To discuss how this course could be tailored to meet your needs and get a quote for course delivery, please email Archie Campbell a.campbell@wea.org.uk or Janice Wimpenny j.wimpenny@wea.org.uk or call 0131 226 3456.
